However, a Program ID number is not ²There is not currently a consistent list of program types but individual categories for common use by administrators could ³First-year savings are defined as the annual savings expected from a given measure in the first year after installation. The annual savings are sometimes the result of annualizing estimated savings that are based on data that cover less than one year. Regardless of the month in which a measure is installed within a given calendar year, the program is credited with the associated savings for the entire year. ⁴Program Administrators should make best estimate of the annual goal even though the goal might in some cases cover two years. ⁵Peak is defined uniquely for each utility. ⁶The lifecycle savings are tracked beginning in the year in which a given measure was installed. Over the period 2008-2010, committed savings are defined as those for which funds have been encumbered by not yet spent. When the funds are spent (i.e., a rebate check has been sent to the participant on a specific date), the savings are then considered "acquired." ⁷These are the budget categories to be used by companies when submitting the required energy efficiency program application. ⁸An application is processed once the PA has reviewed the application and made a decision whether to approve the incentive payment to the customer. Once the decision has been made to pay the incentive to the customer, these funds and their associated energy and demand impacts become "Committed" once this decision is made.
